

Passover Seder Requirements

These are required for the Passover Seder on a large platter (plastic disposables are ok) on each table and one for the leaders at head table: Place settings and napkins at each table.

Matzah – at least three whole pieces (cover and separate with three white napkins)

Ground Horseradish (red or white is ok) a good sized scoop for each platter

A hard-boiled egg , peeled and cut into 4 (enough pieces for each person at table to have one)

A small bowl of salted water (with a sprig of parsley)

Another small bowl of water (with a small piece of lemon) for ‘finger dipping’ and a hand towel

A few sprigs of parsley on platter

A shank bone – a lamb bone is best but any leg bone will do (turkey, etc) on each platter

An apple mixture called charoset. Peel and grate apples. Mix with a little sugar, sweet grape juice or sweet red wine like mogen david, and chopped walnuts. It should form a brownish mix and taste sweet.

Purple or red grape juice or special Kiddush wine with wine cups, Water to drink & glasses

A large plate to put all the elements of the seder as above (egg, bone, horseradish, parsley, can be arranged in little bowls with small spoon in each)

White tablecloth on the head table & Candle sticks and 2 white candles (with matches)

Hagaddah (booklet with the order of service), preferable one per participant

Feather duster, basket & small pieces of bread (enough to be hidden under each table) will be collected together and explained before we start the seder.

Head table required an additional white linen napkin (for afikoman)

Prize: It would be good to have a prize or 2 for the children who find the piece of matzah (afikoman) during the dinner.
